What are the gaps?

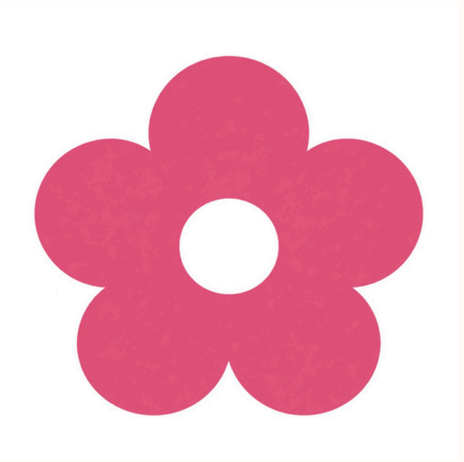

1) Educational awareness of women's cycles

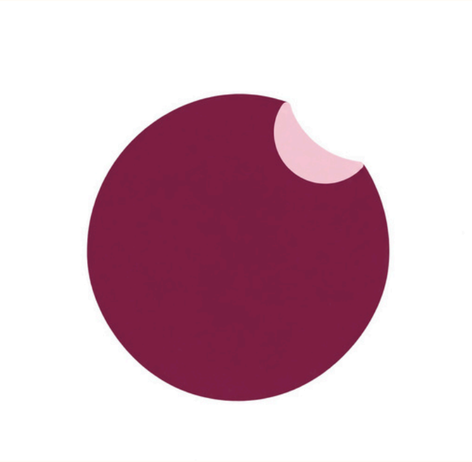

Menstrual

Folllicular

Ovulation

Luteal

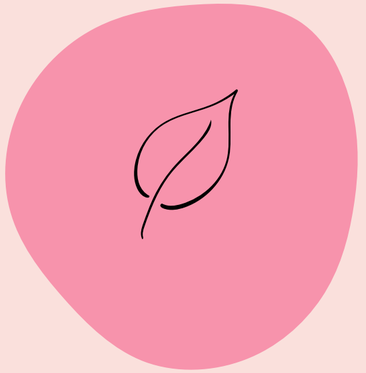

> "48.9 percent of respondents admitted that they do not properly understand their menstrual cycle"

1 in 3

Participants under 25 reported not knowing their cycle length

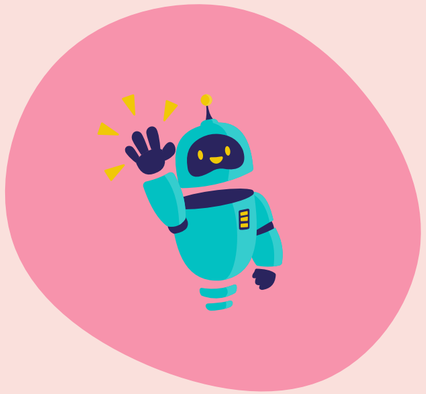

2) Helping users understand supportive habits before symptoms arrive.

Your personal companion

How does Sync fill in these gaps ?

Tracking is only the first step

Sync connects cycle records with everyday support and practical actions just for you.

Create your account

1. Tell us about your cycle
2. Turn on reminders
3. List food preferences
4. Meet your companion

Tell us about your cycle

Rough answers are fine. Sync gets more accurate as you log.

Meet your companion

Ask about your cycle, get meal ideas and a daily plan, or log how you feel just by chatting.

HOW IT WORKS

- The companion, AI meal ideas and your daily plan use Google's Gemini AI through Firebase.
- To answer you, Sync sends your messages with your cycle dates, recent logs and food preferences.
- It's general wellness info, not medical advice.
- Everything else works without it, and you can switch it on or off in Settings.
